

Kiwanians Hear Artillery Major

DISTRICT LT. GOVERNOR PRESENT AT MEETING

The Kiwanis meeting Wednesday, was filled with interest. Besides having Major Miles Culehan, of the 182nd Field Artillery regiment, now in camp at Camp Grayling, present as guest speaker, Dr. Showalter, of Cadillac, district lieutenant governor, pleasantly surprised the members by his presence. A large number of visiting Kiwanians also were present.

In the absence of President Chas. E. Moore, and Vice President Farnham Matson, Dr. C. R. Keyport presided at the meeting. The latter paid a tribute to Joseph Cassidy, son of Mrs. Thos. Cassidy owner of Shoppenagons Inn where the club has held its meetings since it has been organized. In the passing away of "Joe", by which name he was generally known to club members, Grayling Kiwanians have lost a fine young friend. While not a member of the club, he seemed always to be a part of it. He will be missed. The family has the sincere sympathy of the members of Grayling club.

A resolution was offered by the special committee appointed to investigate the proposal for the construction of a seaplane base at Lake Margrethe, for approval by the club. More time for investigation of the matter was requested and, on motion, action on the resolution was deferred for one week.

Don Sweeney and Alfred Sorenson were accepted into the club as members. Rev. Kuhlman, chairman of Kiwanis education, extended welcoming remarks.

Lt. Governor Showalter, disclaimed the idea that this was an official visit. However he took time to commend Grayling club for its activities and for its splendid attendance record. Secretary Roy Trudgeon too was commended for his promptness in filing his reports.

Major Miles Culehan, the guest speaker, is an attorney practicing in Detroit. He has been coming to Camp Grayling for the past 17 years. He claims Detroit and Grayling as his homes. He says he has made a hobby of militarism. He loves the work and, as is generally known, is an excellent commanding officer.

Discipline among the officers and men of his regiment has been one of his principal endeavors. He explained that in this, his regiment has also been trained in its discipline toward civilians. The men and officers at all times must be courteous to the citizens of Grayling, and must conduct themselves with propriety and respect. Maj. Culehan points with pride to the 182nd Field Artillery regiment as being the best regiment in the National guard. Col. Lothrop is in command of the regiment, with its motorized equipment, and, like Maj. Culehan, has always been most cordial with the citizens of Grayling, by whom both are held in high esteem.

An invitation is to be extended to Col. Lothrop and his staff to be guests of the club at next Wednesday's meeting.

Norman Butler Marries Caro Girl

Caro—Miss Norma Luder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Luder, of Caro, became the bride of Norman Butler, of Grayling, son of Mrs. Susie Butler, of Pontiac, in a pretty garden wedding held at the home of the bride's parents here recently. The Rev. Roy Polmanteer, of Rockford, Mich., officiated at 7 o'clock in the evening.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white net over satin with a heart-shaped neckline, puffed sleeves, and a full skirt fashioned of successive flounces banded in pale blue velvet tied with forget-me-nots. Her finger-tip length veil of illusion net fell from a headpiece of pearls and net of halo design. About her throat she wore a strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, and she carried an arm bouquet of Briarcliff roses, California asters, and blue delphinium.

Miss Ruth Huber, of Saginaw, was maid-of-honor. Miss Florence Butler, of Pontiac, a sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Naomi Schultz, of Caro, the bride's cousin, were bridesmaids, with little Nancy Miller, of Vassar, also her cousin, acting as flower girl. Albert Butler, of Pontiac, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Rate Butler, another brother, and Milo Culbert, of Caro, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, refreshments were served by a party of the bride's friends, including the Misses Helen Cutts, Marian Lane, Crystal Mantey, Pauline Monte, Marion Schultz and Mrs. Raymond Meredith.

Mrs. Butler was graduated from the Caro High school, the Tuscola County Normal, and Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti, where she was a member of Phi Kappa Delta and Kappa Delta Pi sororities. Mr. Butler operates a funeral home at Grayling—Bay City Times.

Grayling friends of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Butler extend their heartfelt congratulations and best wishes for a happy wedded life.

CHRISTENING SERVICE SOLEMNIZED

A rather unusual christening service was solemnized for Margrethe Kristine Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Snyder, of Saginaw, at the home of her great grandmother, Mrs. Rasmus Hanson, at four o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Thirty members of the immediate families were present to witness the solemn service conducted by the Rev. H. W. Kuhlman, pastor of Michelson Memorial church, with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilcox of Saginaw acting as Godmother and Godfather.

The occasion was unusual in that the baby's great grandmother and grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hanson and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Snyder of Saginaw were all present. Other out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Henry Snyder and Miss Virginia Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilcox, of Saginaw.

Following the service the guests gathered at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hanson for dinner.

ENTERTAIN WITH "OPEN HOUSE"

For the pleasure of their daughter, Miss Jayne, Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Keyport entertained with "Open House" Sunday afternoon from 4 till 7 o'clock, the occasion being the twenty-fifth birthday of Miss Keyport.

The lawn and house of the hosts' summer place at Lake Margrethe made a very lovely setting for the affair where some one hundred guests gathered for an informal hour and to wish their young hostess many returns of the day.

Coffee was served in the dining room from a long lace covered table centered with a large, beautiful birthday cake, guarded by bouquets of pink bachelor buttons. Punch was served on the lawn.

Everywhere throughout the house and on the veranda, large bouquets of flowers, from friends, had been attractively arranged, making the house a bower of beauty.

The party was one of the lovely social affairs of the summer season.

Right straight from Paris comes the news that smart women are painting their knee caps as red as their nails. Wait till the Governor of Michigan hears that one. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Joseph Cassidy Passes Away

Joseph L. Cassidy, age 41 years, succumbed to a lingering illness at Grayling Mercy Hospital Monday evening at 5:00 o'clock. He had been ailing for years and late in the winter his illness became more serious and he had been a patient at the hospital three different times since then, but each time rallied. Pernicious anemia and heart trouble was the cause of his death. He had the best of care and every wish was granted him by his mother and other members of the family, and during his late illness his sister, Sister Mary Panceretia, was at his bedside to administer to his wants.

"Joe", as he was familiarly known among his friends, came to Grayling when he was 12 years old with his parents, Mrs. Isabelle Cassidy and the late Thomas Cassidy. They came from Cheboygan, where Joe was born on October 21, 1897. He was the only son and the pride and joy of his mother and father. Mr. Cassidy opened what was known as the Model Bakery and when Joe was old enough he assisted in the bake shop after school hours. Leaving Grayling schools, he later took a business course at Ferris Institute, Big Rapids, which enabled him to be of more assistance to his father. When Mr. Cassidy launched into the hotel business at Shoppenagons Inn he worked for him there and continued doing so until his health began to break down.

Joe was a member of St. Mary's church, where he had sang in the choir from the time he was a boy. He was also a member of Grayling Council Knights of Columbus. He loved particularly to hunt and fish and was a great admirer of flowers, always looking after his mother's rock garden and flower beds during the growing season. He had a pet dog, a water spaniel, that was seen with Joe wherever he went.

Funeral services were held this morning at St. Mary's church at 9:00 o'clock. Rev. Fr. James Moloney celebrating the high mass of requiem. Mrs. Frank Tetu and Mrs. H. E. Buck, of West Branch, the latter who also was accompanist, rendered the hymnal part of the mass very beautifully. Cousins of the deceased were pallbearers, Joseph, Lawrence and Jerome Kesseler, Willard, Lawrence and LeRoy Cote. The remains were taken to Cheboygan, where the funeral cortege was met by members of the Knights of Columbus of that city, and escorted to Calvary cemetery, where he was laid to rest beside his father and sister Rose.

Surviving the deceased are his mother, and five sisters, Sister Mary Panceretia, Mrs. Earl Hewitt, Cadillac; Mrs. Victor Thelen, Grand Rapids; Miss Margaret Cassidy, Lansing, and Mrs. Roy Trudgeon, Grayling, all of whom have the sympathy of many friends.

There were many from out of the city in attendance at the funeral services, who included: Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thelen and daughter Barbara, Mrs. Hugh Kelly and daughter Margaret, of Grand Rapids; Sister Mary Panceretia, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hewitt and daughter, Constance, Cadillac; Miss Margaret Cassidy, Lansing; William A. Cassidy, Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Cote, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Cote, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cote, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Cote, Bay City; Ray Cote, Harbor Springs; Mrs. Earl Gartland and son, Jack, Flint; Mrs. Alice Clune, Cheboygan; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tetu and son, Robert, Angus McPhee, Frank Smith, Mrs. H. E. Buck, West Branch; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kesseler, Gaylord.

ENTERTAINS WITH ATTRACTIVE LUNCHEON

A very attractive luncheon was given for twelve friends by Mrs. Emil Giegling Monday afternoon. Garden flowers made an exquisite table setting at which the guests were seated.

Honor scores were held by Mrs. Harold Jarmin, Mrs. Arthur McInnis of Detroit, and Mrs. Ernest Hoelsi for contract bridge which followed the luncheon.

Guests included: Mrs. Halford Kettelman, Chicago; Mrs. Herbert Wolff, South Bend, Ind.; Mrs. Helen Roulter, Mrs. Olaf Michelson, Mrs. Arthur McInnis, Detroit; Miss Margrethe Bauman, Mrs. Harold Jarmin, Mrs. Frank Bond, Mrs. Stanley Stealy, Mrs. Ernest Hoelsi, Mrs. Roy Milnes; Mrs. George Kraus, Chicago.

182nd Field Artillery Arrives In Camp

Without fanfare or ceremony, the 182nd Field Artillery of Detroit, arrived in Grayling Saturday evening. They came in on their own motorized equipment and the officers and men are busy with their two-weeks training.

The regiment is in command of Col. George V. N. Lothrop. Other members of its staff are Lt. Col. Robert F. Gleim; Maj. Miles N. Culehan; Capt. Allan G. Dingwall; 1st Lt. James M. Cunningham; and Chaplain (Capt.) Milton S. Kanaga. Maj. Thomas G. Amos, is in command of the medical department.

This regiment of heavy artillery will have full use of the artillery range, which is recognized as one of the best in the U. S. Their training period will be two weeks, ending August 19. Real ammunition is used by this regiment, and the booming of the big guns is often heard in Grayling. It has a complement of 46 officers, and ten batteries, besides its medical detachment. There are 700 men in the regiment.

Charles Waldron Old Resident Dies

Charles Waldron, a resident of Crawford county for over 45 years, passed away at his home Wednesday morning at 2:30 o'clock, following a succession of palytic strokes.

The forepart of June Mr. Waldron, while visiting at the home of his son Edward, in Eaton Rapids, suffered a paralytic stroke. He was removed to his home here July 1, and last Saturday morning suffered another, more severe one which rendered him helpless.

Charles Talbert Waldron was born in Shiawassee county, Mich., on May 3, 1870. In 1895 he was united in marriage to Katie Osterlander. To this union two daughters and one son were born. The family lived in South Branch, until up to 38 year ago when they moved into the city. Mr. Waldron was a carpenter by trade and in the early days worked in the lumber mills in Grayling. He has many friends in Grayling among old and young who will greatly miss his departure. He had a friendly manner and always ready for a chat with anyone.

He leaves to mourn his death, besides his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Richardson, Lansing, and Mrs. Hazel Morgan, Cadillac, and one son Edward of Eaton Rapids, and 22 grandchildren and one grandchild.

The remains are at the Grayling Funeral Home where they will remain until the funeral which will be held Friday at 2:30 p. m. from the Michelson Memorial church. Rev. H. W. Kuhlman will officiate.

The family have the sympathy of friends in Grayling in their bereavement.

MRS. OLAF MICHELSON WAS DINNER HOSTESS

Friday evening, Mrs. Olaf Michelson was hostess to some twenty-eight guests at a very delightful dinner party at the Michelson summer home at Lake Margrethe.

Five newly wedded couples were the honor guests and all favors of the evening were passed out to this interesting group. Following the dinner six tables of guests were arranged, with the contracts drawing the name of a bride to whom their score was to be given.

The final totaling of all the scores at the conclusion of the games showed the winning brides in their respective order to be: Mrs. Benjamin Jerome of Pontiac, Mrs. Richard Snyder, Mrs. Carl J. Bauer Jr., Mrs. Henry Wilcox, all of Saginaw, and Mrs. Esbern Hanson, St. Louis.

The party was a very unique as well as delightful affair for which the hostess is noted.

MY TRIP TO JAPAN

3rd of a series of articles by Matilda Bishop about her Goodwill Tour as a Guest of the Japanese Government.

Imperial Hotel, Tokyo
July 9, 1939

Dear Editor:

Perhaps you are asking, "What on earth can one do on board a ship for 14 days?" If you are on a Japanese boat there is plenty to do. First thing in the morning you turn your watch back thirty or forty minutes, when business-like stewards bring you iced orange juice at seven o'clock. You drink it—take a look at the sea. There seems to be lots of sea and just as it was yesterday, calm as a lake. Just a little storm might make some variation at least, but I'd better put that idea out of my mind. Often variation comes to me in overdoes. We'll leave the sea alone. The steward bobs in—the bath is ready. You could refuse the bath, of course, and sleep, but you really like that bath—you could miss breakfast kidneys with bacon or jam pancakes—or "tempura" a kind of fish fritter. Then too, you want to read the bulletin board for the special dinner, movie, and lecture announcements. There it is—the promised "Sukiyaki" dinner on deck.

Suppose we skip details and march right out on deck. All of us must remove our shoes. We sit on our feet—great square cushions help make this easier. The food is prepared on electric grills before us at tables—tiny low tables for four people. The stewards are all dressed as Geisha girls. My lovely "maiden" cuts beef paper thin—celery, bamboo sprouts, green beans, onions, water chestnuts; all this fries for awhile. Sauces are poured on—a little of this and a little of that. Each person is provided with four or five bowls and chopsticks. One bowl is full of rice. I have what looks like an attractive vase. The "vase" is hot. It contains saki, a wine made of rice. A thimble-like cup comes next. You sip the hot wine. I found saki a very pleasant wine. It went very well with the thin steak and vegetable mixture which makes up the "Sukiyaki". Like the Italians, the Japanese do not cook their vegetables as much as we do. This dish was "different" but very good.

The decks are decorated to look like wisteria gardens. All Japanese men and women wear kimonos. Some are very very handsome. Especially the wide sash or obi worn by the women. From this obi one can tell the social status, marital status, age and a few other significant statistics. One can gain this, yes, if you know all the tradition and lore attached to the history of the obi. I've been studying this matter for days. It is as complicated as higher mathematics. Just at present I am "lost" in the subject. The colors are lovely and the workmanship exquisite. Sometimes in Japan an obi is rented for certain festive days. Great prices are demanded of those not fortunate enough to be wealthy enough to possess one.

I enjoyed the Japanese dance that followed as much as anything. Only men took part. Their lips are very red, their faces painted very white. To a fine, high keyed music these men too, but there might be broiled kidneys with bacon or jam pancakes—or "tempura" a kind of fish fritter. Then too, you want to read the bulletin board for the special dinner, movie, and lecture announcements. There it is—the promised "Sukiyaki" dinner on deck.

It has amazed me to note how informal this commander is. I have seen no salutes. He plays every deck sport each afternoon with any passengers or deck hands. Members of the crew seem to have as much fun with him as the American, German, Russian or Japanese passengers. Someone, the other day wondered who ran the ship. I climbed up to find out. No one stopped me. There was a sign saying, "Navigators Only." I decided I'd be a "navigator" and stepped into the tiny veranda deck where an officer stood on lookout. He bowed low and asked if I should like to stand at his post. I did. Up there you can see all over the world—so it impresses you at least. Then I was shown the automatic steering gyro. This synchronizes all clocks on board. If I understood him correctly, at

Modernizing Grayling Hatchery Nearly Done

Modernization and extension of facilities at the State fish hatchery located here is making steady progress, according to the fish division of the Michigan Department of Conservation.

Extensions of the rearing pond system and modernization of ponds is practically completed. A new pump house and equipment are among the improvements being made. This is part of a program of extensions and improvements which has been carried on for several years with the aid of CCC and WPA labor.

The pump house encloses a water wheel of modern design to be driven by stream flow, which operates a pump for delivering water from a shallow well to the hatchery. The pump has been in service more than 25 years.

The pump house is set on piling and is constructed of limestone, quarried in northern Michigan and transported by CCC labor.

When completed the improvements at the station will greatly facilitate the stocking of the trout streams in the east central Michigan district which is the favorite trout fishing area of a large number of fishermen.

U. S. Army Observers Praise Artillery Range

Michigan's artillery target range has received a "puff" from United States army observers who made inspections of the various Michigan units of the national guard which trained at Camp Grayling here recently. Officers of the 119th Field artillery quote the observers as saying Michigan has provided one of the most ideal ranges for big gun practice.

In 1934, after the 119th Field Artillery was motorized the state offered a larger range for the heavy artillery. This range is located east of Frederic about 20 miles from Grayling military reservation. Here the state owns a vast acreage which is wild and uninhabited.

The artillery regiments had formerly used a range west of the camp. Guns were placed half way up a small range of hills and targets were set on three high hills known as the "Three Sisters" which were three miles from the gun placements. The artillery shot over "Rattlesnake swamp."

The new and larger range offers better practice and the targets are not permanently placed when camp opens as formerly had to be the case with the old limited range. Targets are shifted so gunners get real practice in finding the new range of the shifted targets.

THE BUILDER WINS

An old Hindu proverb says: "Help thy brother's boat across and lo! thine own has reached the shore." This is sound psychology. It is nothing more than our old friend—the law of compensation. "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

You can't escape the law of cause and effect, therefore, why not have it on your side? This law applies with telling force to business. If more young business folks understood it, there would be more successes and fewer failures. The young man or young woman who renders more service and better service than he or she is paid to perform, will find a larger check in the pay envelope sooner or later. Employers are looking for builders.

The employee who always helps when the opportunity presents itself will find that his employer will help him. The builder—the man or woman who is positive and constructive—will win.

The destroyer—the man who gives as little as he can, who begrudges his employer a fair day's work, who is jealous of his fellow employees and tries to retard their progress, will destroy himself just as surely as the sun rises in the east and sets in the west.

—The Silver Lining.

Ladies Golf Club

There was a large turnout at the pot luck luncheon at the club house Wednesday. The president, Mrs. A. J. Joseph, was in the chair for the business session. The beautiful cup presented by Mrs. Harold Cliff, was accepted. The cup will be known as the Maude Hanson cup.

Mrs. Wm. Hill was the lucky lady in the golf game and Mrs. Emil Giegling held the high score for contract.

Wednesday, August 9th, the Roscommon ladies will be our guests.

HARVEY KREIPKE MARRIED IN DETROIT

Of much interest to Grayling friends, is the marriage of Harvey E. Kreipke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kreipke, of Grayling, and Miss Leona V. Reeb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. Reeb, of Oakville, Iowa, that occurred Saturday, July 29, in Detroit. The nuptials were solemnized at 7:30 p. m. at the Redeemer Lutheran church in that city before relatives and friends of the young couple. Mrs. Leah Krentler and William M. Kreipke, brother of the groom, were their attendants. Adolph Lemke and Leonard Klatt acted as ushers.

The bride looked lovely in a white net gown over satin, with a finger-tip veil, and carried a flower fan of white larkspur and gardenias. Mrs. Krentler wore a gown of hyacinth blue net, with duobonnet trim, and carried a bouquet of blue delphinium and yellow roses. The groom was attired in white serge.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Carl Kreipke, of Grayling, wore rose colored lace and her corsage was of white gardenias. Due to illness, the bride's mother, who lives in Iowa, was unable to attend. However, the newlyweds will visit there on their wedding trip, later coming to Grayling for a week's visit with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kreipke.

Miss Vivian Sorensen, cousin of the groom, arranged the church decorations, and they were beautiful. White gladioli and larkspur were used profusely. The bridal bouquets were also fashioned by Miss Sorensen, who is employed in a florist shop in Detroit.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Sorensen, uncle and aunt of the groom, on Monte Vista Avenue, where garden and house were lovely with white flowers and Japanese lanterns. About 80 guests were present and were served a delicious buffet lunch.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kreipke, of Grayling; Mr. and Mrs. Kai C. Hanson, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Perrine, of Peoria, Ill.; Dr. and Mrs. Burch, of Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

TRADE MARKS AND DOLLAR MARKS

WITHOUT giving the matter much thought you might define a trade mark on a package or an advertisement as a mark of identification which protects the interest of the seller against imitators; a selfish symbol, you know, which exists to help some one man or firm to get rich.

Actually a trade mark is as much to your interest as it is to the man's who owns it and has it registered in his name.

For it is a buying guide for you which you can absolutely trust. You can buy anything under a trade mark and know that the quality, the quantity and the price will be right. You do not even have to examine the package before you buy. If the trade mark is there, so also will the quality be there.

The merchant knows that. He prefers to sell trade-marked, that is, advertised, goods, because they have the confidence of the public and can be sold easily, quickly and in quantity.

Back of the trade mark is advertising. It stands for the trade mark, for the trade mark itself is merely a design etched on paper, until advertising gives it life in the minds of consumers like yourself. The trade mark which saves you money and time need not be a formal design of a national manufacturer or advertiser. It may be merely the familiar name of your grocer or haberdasher, appearing at the foot of his advertisements in the newspaper.

Wherever you see those familiar words or names or marks you know that you are in the presence of a man who is doing his level best to be worthy of your trade and who wants to keep you coming back.

He is advertising for that purpose, notifying you that he is in business to stay and that you can buy from him and he will stand back of his goods. For you the trade mark, like the dollar mark which we all respect, stands for full value wherever it happens to be found.

But unidentified goods are as uncertain as counterfeit money, and the wise man or woman avoids both.

And how close these trade marks are to our lives and how comforting they are to us when we buy! You go into a store. On the shelves are familiar marks you have seen all your life.

You recognize them as you do familiar faces in a strange crowd—and they give you the same comforting feeling of familiarity and respect.

Trade marks exist to help you buy more serenely and profitably.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

Thursday, August 3, 1916

A daring robbery occurred Thursday afternoon at about 5:00 o'clock, when one John R. Keating, a traveling salesman for a jewelry supply company of Chicago, helped himself to two diamond rings at the Andrew Peterson Jewelry store. During the afternoon Mr. Peterson had purchased an amount of goods from Mr. Keating for his store, and upon returning from supper missed the rings, which were valued at about $645. That day being a very quiet one, Mr. Peterson was very reluctant to believe that Mr. Keating took them. However, Sheriff Cody was put on his trail and the rings were found on Mr. Keating himself.

On Friday, July 28, occurred the death of Mrs. Emily Jane Phillips at the home of her son-in-law, Charles Richardson, in Pere Cheney, at the advanced age of 77.

Forest fires are still raging in all directions from Grayling. They have been in no particular locality, but instead have infested almost every district that was not immune from their dread fury. The men had to remain on the firing lines all day long and at times the rations were low causing some discomfort, but little complaining was heard from the men.

Miss Edna McCullough spent Sunday and Monday the guest of friends in Detroit.

Frank Michelson has purchased a fine Rodaplane 8 cylinder 1917 model Apperson car, of T. E. Douglas, local agent.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Petersen, and Mr. Victor Petersen, all of Detroit, arrived the latter part of last week to visit the gentlemen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Petersen.

Miss Edna Rasmussen is home from Detroit to visit her parents for an indefinite time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Schoonover were in Detroit for several days last week, visiting friends.

C. C. Fink is now driving a 1917 model Grant Six, purchased of the local agent, Wilhelm Raase.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodbury and two children of Bay City arrived Saturday to visit Mrs. Woodbury's mother, Mrs. C. McLeod and other relatives.

Miss Grace Loader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Loader of Detroit is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John O. Goudrow of this city, for several weeks.

Holger Peterson of Akron, Ohio arrived Saturday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Peterson, and friends for several days. Mr. Peterson has been conducting a jewelry store in Youngstown, Ohio, but sold out and has accepted a position as salesman with the Goodyear Rubber Co. of Akron.

Mrs. Thos. Cassidy and youngest daughter, Rose, have been spending the past week visiting relatives and friends in Cheboygan.

Earl Dawson of the City restaurant has sold his business to Jay Lake of East Jordan, the latter taking possession Sunday night. Mr. Dawson has been proprietor of this restaurant since last December and made a splendid success of the business. Mr. Lake is an experienced restaurant man, and says he has come to stay as soon as he can find a house for his family.

The sad news was received here Sunday of the sudden death of little Theresa McClellan, 4 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McClellan, of Bay City. The cause of death was of that dread disease, infantile paralysis. The little one was ill only five hours before her death Saturday night, and in a few hours after she took ill her whole body was paralyzed. Funeral services were held Monday morning from the home. The mother will be remembered before her marriage as Miss Anna Blondin.

Just as the day was closing Sunday, the sufferings of Mrs. Jeffrey McMahon, a well known resident of Grayling, were ended when death came to her relief. She had been suffering from an attack of typhoid fever since July 4. Mrs. McMahon was a prominent and active lodge worker, and was a member of three different orders. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the M. E. Church, Rev. Aaron Mitchell officiating. It was conducted by the Lady Foresters, who attended in a body. She leaves to survive her death besides her husband, eleven children, and 11 grandchildren and her mother.

Ervin Hodge of Detroit is visiting his wife, who is spending the summer at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fischer. Will Heric and wife, who have been residing in Flint for the past several months, have returned here to make their home. Miss Laura Moon and Mr. Norman Johnston, both of Wellington, were united in marriage Tuesday afternoon by Justice Schumann. Mr. and Mrs. Alex LaGrow are entertaining the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Firard of Tecumseh, Ontario and aunt, Mrs. Blodreau of Chippewa Falls, Wis., and Miss Grace Monforton of Sandwich, Ont.

Last week George Burke, of Frederic, purchased of N. P. Olson of this city the property on the corner of Ottawa and Norway streets. It is the intention of Mr. Burke to build at this place a fine Ford sales garage and repair shop.

Health & Hygiene

VACATION HAZARDS

Illness, sometimes with fatal termination, is not infrequently the result of a vacation intended to provide the family with recreation and improved health. Typhoid and dysentery are the chief menaces that lurk in the woods, in lake resorts and in other sparsely populated areas far from the watchful eye of local and state health officers.

Northern Michigan is not unique in that the summer months suddenly swell the population to many times the normal level. Sanitary facilities, barely adequate for the resident population, are severely overtaxed. Safe sewage disposal becomes a problem. And when the mosquito and the housefly have easy access to human excreta and the food supply, serious trouble is almost certain to ensue. Generally, infants and young children are the victims. This is not meant to discourage those who are planning a vacation in the camp and resort areas. It is intended merely to serve as a warning that the vigilance of the public health department does not extend to those areas and the vacationist and camper must, himself, assume some of the more important duties of the health officer.

The State Department of Health at Lansing is prepared to advise any who write how to protect the family from flies, how to construct a well or purify water supplies and how to arrange for safe sewage disposal.

Scrupulous care should be exercised in handling food and milk. Keeping foodstuffs on ice is no safeguard since the dysentery bacillus may live for long periods at low temperatures without losing its virulence. If there is the slightest doubt that food has been contaminated, whether by human or insect agency, it should be served hot, on hot plates, and milk and water should be boiled. It would be well if mothers would undertake the preparation of their children's food, refusing to delegate that task to anyone however responsible.

Report proprietors, instead of exerting themselves to silence reports of communicable disease, should seek the cooperation of the State Health Department and make such changes in their sewage, plumbing and screening arrangements as may be recommended. Such alterations are generally inexpensive and purely from an economic point of view would pay for themselves many times. A resort with a reputation of being sanitary in every respect enjoys a more valuable type of advertising than can be assured with any number of brochures lauding the beauty of the scenery or the multiplicity of sports offered.

HIGH PRESSURE MAGAZINE SALESMEN

The following information has been received from a small Michigan town:

"Today five young men were canvassing this village using statements and tactics that finally got them into what might have developed into trouble with the local authorities and state police."

"For instance, at my home, my wife was called to the door—the young man was 'working his way through college by selling these magazines; he had been told that she liked and was kind to boys trying to help themselves, etc., etc.' She told him she did like to help good boys but was then leaving for an appointment at Ann Arbor and might see him in the afternoon. The young man worked himself up into loud talk the gist of which was that 'unless she bought his magazines she was forcing him into a life of crime, and wouldn't it be much better for her to be late at an appointment than to be the cause of his ruin?' and such drivel. He attempted to enter the house but fortunately the screen door was securely latched."

Lansing—The "home rule" policy of the late Gov. Frank Fitzgerald, which the legislature followed in enactment of the new welfare act, is now coming home to roost.

Counties "must take up the slack" in cost of relief, it is announced by Walter F. Gries, chairman of the state social welfare commission.

With the state "broke" (at least $30,000,000 in the red) and with a reduced state appropriation available for the present fiscal year, the state commission allocated $650,350 to counties for August relief. Counties had requested a total of $1,207,872. Wayne county alone wanted $489,000.

Under terms of the new act, counties are given final authority over relief expenditures. When state funds are exhausted, responsibility for maintenance of welfare—according to the new act—falls back on home governments. Are all counties doing as much as they can for relief of unemployed? The commissioners think not. Jackson county, for instance, expended $440,000 for a new courthouse in 1938 when it contributed only $9,000 for relief while the state was giving it $553,000.

Officials of some counties, however, think otherwise. Quoting G. R. Harris, Wayne county welfare superintendent: "Counties are limited by the 15-mill amendment and some of them can't raise enough taxes altogether to meet their relief costs."

Problem of State Aid

The relief problem into which home rule was injected by the 1939 legislature is but an example of how state aid to local governments has mounted in the past few years.

Back in 1933 the total of revenues collected by the state and turned over to counties, townships, cities and school districts did not exceed $40,000,000 a year. Within six years the state's tax load in behalf of local governments only has grown approximately $65,000,000, for a grand total of more than $100,000,000 of half of all the money that the state collects.

The schools obtained more than $25,000,000 more each year. County and township relief commissions last year absorbed nearly $40,000,000.

County road funds received $30,000,000 from the state treasury.

And so the story goes. What is the answer? Will "home rule", which taxpayers talk about so fondly, stop the apparently ever-increasing trend toward more spending of money for governmental public services? Here is a neat question. The property owner and consumer, who together constitute Mr. Taxpayer, must provide the answer. After all, he is the fellow who foots the bill.

Vulnerable G.O.P. Spots?

Conferences between Murray D. VanWagoner and Frank Murphy at Washington over 1940 politics are said to have elicited a comment by the former governor that the Michigan Republican administration has two vulnerable spots in its armor at present:

1. Revision of civil service by the legislature. Murphy's belief is that civil service is now largely a figure of speech, instead of safeguard for good government. Kenneth C. Pennebaker, whom Governor Dickinson appointed to succeed Brownrigg as civil service director, apparently shares Murphy's ideas, for he recently declared that the administrative board's action in refusing an additional $101,500 had assured that the law "from now on, is a gesture". And he added: "We might as well close shop."

Facts are that civil service cost money. The department spent $250,000 last year; the legislature cut its request for $300,000 down to $75,000. Of this amount, $15,000 goes for salaries of the five civil service commissioners.

2. Non-partisan public health department. On August 1 Dr. H. A. Moyer, personal physician for Governor Dickinson, succeeded Dr. Don W. Gudakunst as health commissioner. Dr. Gudakunst, who is a Republican, was appointed by Murphy on recommendation of the American Public Health association.

A report just released by the association, after an 11-month survey of Michigan's health facilities, recommends a non-partisan appointment of the commissioner by the state council of health. A sentence says: "The fact that the commissioner of health is appointed directly by the governor and may be removed by the succeeding administration, without any consideration other than that there has been a political change, makes for a lack of efficiency and results in a periodic lowering of the morale of the entire personnel."

Dickinson's Crusade

City slickers can laugh all they want to about Governor Dickinson's crusade against "high life," but a lot of folks respect him for it just the same.

Gov. Earl Long, brother of famed Huey, had decided that a governor should get an example. Hence the Louisiana governor's mansion no longer will serve liquors of any kind.

We inquired of an upstate newspaper editor about how people there had reacted to the Dickinson drive on sin. He said: "It has been popular with most people. I would judge that he has made votes."

Of course, the governor's attitude on drinking and gambling and immorality in general is very much a personal matter. It is not a political issue. James Thompson, state republican chairman, has made that clear.

The governor's famous expression, "pipe to God", elicited this explanation the other day: "It's simple enough—you have electric and gas lines passing your houses, bearing comforts you can only get by making a connection. There is not a place on God's earth without one of those spiritual lines. It's near you and it's up to you to make the connection."

Medics to Serve

Appropos to the home rule situation in which the welfare problem finds itself is that resulting from the current curtailment of state aid for care of crippled and afflicted children.

The legislature, economy-bent, limited such state aid to $800,000 for the entire state. This sum was only $100,000 more than the 1938 quota for Wayne county alone. If any county feels that the state aid quota is insufficient, it may supplement the amount.

When the cut was applied, criticism was voiced that the administration was neglecting the welfare of children. The Detroit Medical Journal, publication of the Wayne County Medical society, took a middle-road position to the effect that doctors could not afford to quarrel with the legislature in the latter's effort for economy. This stand was applauded widely by the press.

The Michigan Medical society has taken a fairly liberal attitude on the subject of public health. Physicians and hospitals say they will willingly do their part not to deny medical aid to anyone in an emergency. Furthermore, the society took the leadership this year to pioneer a new field of group health insurance. Incorporation papers have been filed, and the program will get under way shortly after Sept. 18 when the society holds its annual meeting.

No other state has a comparable health insurance program.

More Liquor Stores

Whereas the late Governor Fitzgerald advocated that the state get out of the liquor business entirely, the opposite is about due to take place.

Additional liquor retail stores are to be opened soon by the state liquor commission in the hope of increasing the state's revenue to the treasury. The latter being sorely in need of money. Studies have disclosed that private retailers netted substantial profits from liquor sales and the state commission believes this profit could well be utilized

Michigan, one of 16 states with state stores, enjoyed a net revenue profit last year of $19,210,827. Of this license fees produced nearly $3,000,000; state liquor taxes, $4,300,000; miscellany income, $330,000, and the balance in retail sales profit.

Gross receipts were $45,000,000. Administrative and collection costs, plus cost of goods and selling cost, amounted to $25,800,000. Michigan's "take" out of the liquor business thus was more than $19,000,000. Nationally, the net revenue of state and local governments from alcoholic beverages reached a staggering total of $318,000,000.

SUMMER HIGHWAY MAPS ARE OUT

Strange Playmates Astonish Owner

A strange friendship of three inherent enemies, a little brown hen named Gypsy, a tawny gray cat named Fritzle, and Mitze, a Toy Boston bulldog, was disclosed in Los Angeles recently when the hen astonished her owner by producing a 3 1/2-inch egg. The trio play and eat together.

Joan Bond had her tonsils removed at Mercy Hospital Tuesday.

Save at Olson's Shoe Sale. 3 to 6 dollar shoes at $1.25 to $2.00. Black, brown and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Baynham are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Larry Dale, at Mercy Hospital, August 1.

A daughter, Constance June, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cousineau, of Prudenville, at Mercy Hospital on July 30th.

Capt. and Mrs. Gerald Reynolds, of Lake Margrethe, are happy over the arrival of a daughter, Sally, at Mercy Hospital, August 1.

The Junior Ladies Aid society report a very fine turnout at their ice cream social Tuesday evening, for which they were very appreciative. The affair netted them a neat sum for their treasury.

Mrs. Gail Clise, manager of the local telephone exchange, is away from the office nursing a couple of fractured ribs as the result of a fall downstairs at her home. She is getting along nicely however.

Sunday was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. P. C. Stockholm and several friends dropped in during the evening to wish her a happy birthday and spend the time visiting. Mrs. Stockholm served a lovely lunch.

Miss Mildred Towsley of the Fischer Hotel dining room, was called to Diamondale, Tuesday evening by the death of her father, Stewart G. Towsley, which occurred that evening. The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon.

E. J. Olson went to Detroit Saturday evening and on Sunday witnessed the Michigan Open golf tournament that was played at the Western Golf & Country Club. And of course he enjoyed every stroke. He returned home Sunday night.

Lucille Waite celebrated her 6th birthday Monday afternoon, and her mother Mrs. Ray Waite, invited a few of her little friends in to spend the afternoon. Various games were played out of doors, until Mrs. Waite served the kiddies a delicious lunch.

Grayling school band, under direction of Herbert Rowland, played a concert at CCC Camp Hartwick Pines Wednesday evening. They were guests of Capt. Maxwell of the Camp. Many parents of the band members and others were in attendance.

Mrs. Roger Kneff (Lucille Wheeler), underwent an appendectomy at Mercy Hospital this morning.

Miss Olga Nielsen submitted to an emergency operation for the removal of her appendix at Mercy Hospital Sunday night. She is reported as being as well as can be expected.

Members of the Feldhauser family and other relatives enjoyed a weenie roast at the City Tourist park Saturday night to celebrate the birthday anniversaries of William Wythe of Charlotte and Clifford Fuller of Marshall, who were visiting in the city.

Mrs. Alice Sullivan says that she and her niece were the parties who saw the clothing that was reported seen on the shore of Frog Lake near where George Lane was found drowned. The item in the Avalanche said they were seen by Mr. and Mrs. Roe, which was an error.

Mrs. Rose Enyart was very pleasantly surprised Tuesday evening when about 25 of her friends dropped in to wish her a happy birthday and spend the evening. The guests enjoyed playing games, after which a delightful covered dish lunch was served. Mrs. Enyart received many lovely gifts.

Dance to real swing music every Saturday night at the Lyric, Higgins Lake. Modern and Old Time dances. All beer, wine and lunches, 10c. Gents 35c; Ladies Free. 5-4-tf

In a ragged game of baseball on the home lot Sunday, Grayling Merchants lost to Lewiston by the score of 10 and 9. The game was chuck full of errors, each side making their share. Both teams registered 17 hits apiece. Anthony, Peterson and Post were the battery for Grayling with Chibondy throwing for Lewiston and Kellogg behind the bat. Next Sunday the Merchants travel to Boyne City.

Clarence Johnson, vice president; Harold MacNeven, secretary, and Alfred Hanson of Winter Sports, Inc., broadcasted over WBCM station Tuesday noon. Of course they told the world what is being done here in Grayling to get ready for a big season of winter sports, and a lot about our great winter park. "Washboard" too was there and did some clever entertaining with his guitar and baritone voice. You may be assured that those listening in enjoyed the program.

J. M. Townsend, of Bay City, owner of the Townsend Advertising Agency, and his son, of Flint, are enjoying a week's camping on the Manistee river. Mr. Townsend has built up a splendid advertising clientele, and the growth of his agency is evidenced by his constantly increasing business. The Michigan Mutual Tornado, Cyclone and Windstorm Insurance Co., of Hastings, Mich., is among his agency's customers, and is one of the most reliable insurance companies in the country.

Card of Thanks

The fine results, both socially and financially, of the Scandinavian Supper party makes me desirous of thanking, through the columns of the Avalanche, all those who were so very kind in working on committees and giving donations.

I am unable to mention all who contributed to the affair but, as president of the Hospital Aid, I appreciate any effort that was made by anyone to make the benefit a success.

The following committees assisted: Food committee: Mrs. Royal Wright, Mrs. C. R. Keyport, Mrs. Charles Moore. Decorating committee: Mrs. H. W. Wolf, Mrs. Halford Kittleman, Mrs. Esbern Hanson. Table Decorations and Boutonnieres: Mrs. H. A. Bauman. Tickets: Miss Margrethe Bauman, Mrs. LeRoy Pearson, Sister Mary Theodora, Mrs. Roy Trudgeon, Miss Georgia Olson, Miss Jayne Keyport. Publicity: Mrs. O. P. Schumann, Mrs. Axel Michelson, Mrs. Roy Milnes. Costume committee: Miss Ingegerd Jacobson, of Stockholm, Sweden, sister of Mrs. Royal Wright, and Mrs. R. A. Wright. Entertainment committee: Mrs. A. J. Joseph, assisted by Spike's Orchestra, 119th Regimental Band, accordion and guitar players from Camp Ausable.

The Hospital Aid has as its objective the furnishing of a semi-private room at Mercy Hospital and the money taken in at the benefit will make a fine start toward that end.

FORT BRADY

A most cordial invitation has been extended by Lieut. Col. Hayes Kroner, commanding Fort Brady to all parents with sons in the Citizens' Military Training Camp and all others interested in the camp to attend the visitors' day ceremonies on August 8.

An interesting program, which will show some of the work done at the camp, is being prepared. There will be music by the C.M.T.C. band, a parade and a brief talk by some prominent civilian speaker.

At the same time medals and prizes won by the trainees will be distributed. Also ample time will be set aside for the young men to show their relatives and friends about the camp. The visitors will see how trainees live in camp, where they sleep and what they eat.

Visitors' day ceremonies mark the culmination of the camp work and each year draw hundreds of persons who are interested in the work carried on by the Citizens' Military Training Camp.

The motion pictures of the violent eruptions and turmoil on the gaseous surface of the sun taken at the University of Michigan's McMath-Hulbert Observatory at Lake Angelus near Pontiac are the only films of this kind ever taken in the United States.

BIGGER-BETTER

any rate correct time and position are obtained. Smoother sailing too than resulted from former efforts of commanders. Then I spent an hour or so going thru the "logs" of the last two years to compare wind, wave and swell scales. When I noted wave scale "phenomenal" I recalled my experience in a hurricane on the ill-fated S. S. Paris. "Wave scale calm" is my choice. I'd never seen the sounding apparatus. These precision instruments were manufactured in France. All the officers, one time or another, mentioned them with great pride. Because passengers are free to go anywhere the hours speed. It is very warm. It occurs to me that the refrigerator rooms might have interest. I inquired. Sure enough—they were all mine. I put my coat on, took the elevator and soon was in the regions below. And cold! Ah! and Ah! again! Tons of white and dark meat of chicken, cut, separated, hard as a stone. Every kind of fish and crab. Octopus, eels, choice varieties of trout and cod for eating raw. I ate some the other day. Not bad at all—

Rather bland. The sharp sauces brought out the flavor as gravy does with potatoes. Eating raw fish might have possibilities, at times, in Michigan—my luck, no luck, only illegal fish seem interested in me. Now, I have the habit, I shall eat them raw, perhaps alive on the spot!

Here are bushels of livers, boxes of hearts—calves and sheep—barrels of baby lobsters. My teeth are chattering. I guess I'm interested in fancy cakes. The heat blasts my face. Hot tea and cakes are grand! The chef, the biggest Frenchman I ever saw, trains all cooks for first and second class on the N. Y. K. line. He officiates on all the Nippon Yusen Kaisha boats—one trip on one, the next on another—then a few weeks in Japan conducting an intensive course for prospective cooks.

News! The Captain gives a cocktail party at 5:30 for all teachers on board. News! Prince Mari gives a party for all teachers aboard tomorrow. Flash! A special Hawaiian dinner to honor all who came on board, at Honolulu. A special dinner for me because I tell fortunes!! This was heaps of fun for me until one charming little Japanese bride asked me, so earnestly, "Would my husband go to war?" The Prince was looking on. He is a captain and will go into active service on return; he has been in Berlin on a special mission. Alas for me, telling the future of a banker! Complications international might result from this poor little bride's question! I studied all lines carefully I can tell you. This was the first remark I'd heard about "the war" or any war! So I said: "Your husband is not to be involved in a declared war. He is to be a valuable asset to the Imperial Government in maintaining order." That seemed to satisfy all concerned.

Honolulu proved to be the story book place depicted in all folders. Luxuriant green covered hills—so rugged appearing from the ship—so soft and green when we view them nearer. Such exotic flowers I have never seen. Five of us hired a driver to take us out to the sugar cane plantations and the pineapple territory. Greenish-yellow fruits as far as the eye could reach in rows as the cabbage in Belgium—in rows as your cabbage—only it always seemed to me the vegetables in Europe were more military in formation than ours in the states. I wanted to go thru the Dole Cannery. We did. Tons of fruit on all sides—sweet, heavy odor of pineapple juice was almost overpowering in the heat and the terrific din of the hundreds of boring machines. Seven thousand men and women earn their living there. We should endure it for an hour or so. We were given all the slices of fresh pineapple we could eat. It was delectable. The white workers get considerably more than the natives for the same work. The work is decidedly seasonal. Just now hundreds of high school youngsters are making extra pin money. It made one fairly dizzy to see these pineapple speed along by conveyors—have the trimming done by machinery, the core fairly shot out, and watch hundreds of girls and women with white rubber gloves, fastened close with rubber bands, inspect and do any extra trimming with razor-sharp knives. Down thru a warehouse where tons of paper makes up the packing boxes, and thru a storage house of a million cans of pineapple ready to be shipped to all parts of the world. The fresh air was welcome.

Now more unforgettable views—more huge flowers: torch ginger, lilies of all colors. Never did I see trees of such bloom. The Golden Shower, the Paiciana, Hibiscus, the Bird of Paradise. We stopped to buy a lei each for 15c, made of exquisite wax-like blossoms and lovely perfume, white and yellow. Then more views of the sea.

We stopped for a moment at a stone—a simple statement: "Amelia Earhart, First Woman to Fly from Hawaii to America." Then to gaze at surf-riders—thrilling to watch. A glimpse of the Hula program given for the tourists at Waikiki. A fair setting but a distinct disappointment. The dancers too beefy; repulsive to me. The good dancers must be at the Fairs in the United States. The Lexington Hotel in New York has one I wish to see again. No more time to watch, we dash to join the Lei burdened crowd enroute to catch the "Kamakura." Arriving Yokohama

All on board to see land before breakfast. I spy a battleship, then a dusky outline. It is Nippon. An airplane sweeps close. Now ranges can be plainly seen. All on deck for quarantine inspection. All on veranda deck for camera inspection. All in the library for inspection of all books and booklets. All summoned to the lounge for tobacco inspection. I do not smoke but agreed to take in 100 cigarettes for a fellow passenger. Alas and alack! A new law passed July 4th, on 50 permitted, or 350 duty. "No smoke worth that," the owner said, so the packages were opened and anyone treated who cared to indulge. We stood and stood. I'll never take a thing for anyone as long as I live. Every article I wore looked as if it had just come from the wringer. Two hours of standing to get two packages of Chesterfields thru! I hope the smoker gets all that Chesterfields are supposed to add to her personality! I fear mine was permanently injured—especially since I didn't rate even a "thank you" for this piece of business.

Out come dozens of newspaper reporters. The teachers are "shot" a thousand ways—sitting down, standing up—in even numbers, in odd numbers—whatever combinations one can make at 21 teachers. There you have it. I'd have lost my sense of humor had it not been for the cages of pigeons these men carried. Agreeable fellows, they let me help fasten the fountain-pen containers to the birds. The pigeons as calm in all the noise—true Orientals—as tame as anything. These men worked like mad, wrote their stories for their papers, developed the pictures, off flew the birds. Four hours later the Tokyo papers presented us at the Imperial Hotel carried more vital statistics about us than are on record anywhere else in the world! A look at the record might impress but the sad pictures will confound!

I noticed many "For Sale" signs so inquired about real estate. Many estates have been subdivided since the depression started. Are we still in it? Small houses are being built—selling very dull.

I bought a local paper to read as I ate a lunch of all the queer fruits I could find on the menu. Vincent Aster is in Honolulu today. The editorial page expresses the hope that he may invest in some business venture. If this brief visit impresses him as it does me, if he likes his islands set in a lavender sea, then this sunset will make him forsake all others.

Hundreds of Japanese down at the pier to honor Prince Mori. Bands, tons of flowers in every direction. Ruthless waste. It is one thing to wear one or two. It is a disgusting excess to come on board wearing as many as can be piled on. Why will people take simple and charming customs and ruin them in vulgar display?

True happiness results from a realization of usefulness.

The Band Builder

(The following is the first of a series of articles on Bands, written by Herbert L. Rowland.)

The roll of drums, the inspiring rhythm of martial music, the soft tones and varied rhythms of symphonic compositions, the lively or colorful tempo of descriptive music, the sweet sway of the waltz, all are a part of the work of that organization, the band.

The work is not simple. Within the hearts and souls of the musicians must be born a feeling of loveliness, sacredness, a sense of beauty which can be interpreted through the medium of a musical instrument.

The souls of musicians can be expressed through their sincere efforts with their minds and musical instruments. As a band works to perfect their desires much hard sincere study, concentration and practice must be endured. Before a band of high quality can be realized many hours, days, weeks, months and years must pass. During this time the individual must put in tiring hours of rehearsals.

One sacrifice after another must be forfeited, by the individual members for the good of the group. Then and only then will the dream of a good band be realized. The band is one of many types of groups that must have complete cooperation before success can be attained.

Let us tear the structure of the band apart into the different sections to see what makes the music what it sounds like to the human ear.

A band composition is divided into many parts, the sections coming under three general headings.

There is the Brass section, the Reed section and the Percussion section. Under the brass section is found the bass horn, trombone, baritone, alto horn, French horn, cornet and trumpet.

The reed section is made up of clarinets, alto clarinets and bass clarinets, oboe, English horn, bassoon, flute, piccolo, and saxophones.

Third the percussion—most popular is the snare drum: followed by the bass drum, cymbals, tambores, triangle, tom tom, bells, and tympani.

Again before these two-dozen-or-so instruments can be blended together to play a musical composition, complete synchronizing and shading of tone must be obtained.

No two of these above-mentioned instruments produce the same tone although the cornet and trumpet are quite similar.

In succeeding articles more detail will be gone into to explain the parts played by various instruments. An attempt will be made to describe the tones of these instruments and the technique required in playing them.

The old saying, "He travels fastest who travels alone," does not hold true in the case of the automobile driver.

He may be alone as a driver, but he has two invisible companions who are constantly fighting one another for superiority. One is "Lady Luck" and the other is "Old Man Accident."

When you return from a trip and have obeyed all the safety rules and regulations and brought yourself and your family back home safe and sound, Lady Luck has been the winner. On the other hand, when you have been involved in an accident because of an infraction of the rule or because of someone else's carelessness, Old Man Accident has been the winner.

You can do the right thing by driving the safe way and making Lady Luck the winner each time.

STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Gas Tax Collections Reach All-Time High

Harry F. Kelly, Secretary of State, reports a gain of $895,314 in the Gas Tax collections the first six months of 1939 over the same period of 1938. This is an all-time high for the Gasoline Tax Division. The total amount collected from January 1 to June 30, 1939 aggregates $13,028,037, topping the previous high record for a six month period in 1937 of $12,736,999 by $191,038. For the first six months in 1938 the total gas collections were $13,032,723, so the gain for 1939 is more marked.

Buy Plates Early—Kelly

Comparative figures released for publication today by Harry F. Kelly, Secretary of State, reveal a total of 1,565,463 automobile registrations for the year 1939. This total shows an increase of 13,456 registrations over the entire 1938 period.

Full year plates issued for 1939 number 1,001,093 sets, while half-year plates total 564,370 sets.

During the next 5 weeks more than a half million sets of half year license plates will expire. These plates must be replaced by full year plates not later than August 31, 1939.

Mr. Kelly fears that unless prospective purchasers buy their plates early, the same hardship that was invoked upon the public in 1938 will be repeated this year.

Nature Notes

Southern Michigan farms by the thousands lack food and cover that will support the wildlife population during winter.

Beavers are so suspicious of anything above water that traps for them must be set below the surface where they can be captured by rather obvious devices.

Well-timbered forests usually are safer from fire than woodlands which have been trimmed out. Timberland well stocked with growing trees resists wind and sun which dry out vegetation and leave it ready for a blaze.

Mowing machines and cats are the chief enemies of nesting birds.

The mammoth, an extinct prehistoric animal larger than the elephant, once lived in what is now Michigan.

Canadian investigations indicate crows may destroy more than 30 percent of the duck nests on important breeding marshes.

The northern pike is the only member of the pike family found outside the United States, it being found in fresh waters of the northern parts of Europe, Siberia and Asia.

The great blue heron, American bittern, kingfisher, American merganser, watersnakes and garter snakes have shown themselves to be the most damaging predators about Michigan fish hatcheries and rearing ponds.

Turtle Coast

Most of the giant turtles that go into American turtle soup come from the east coast of Nicaragua.

YOUNGEST 'NURSE'

Afflicted with an incurable heart ailment, Sue Hembree, four, of Tulsa, Okla., forgets her own plight by spreading sunshine among fellow patients at the hospital, where she is given the unofficial title of honorary nurse. She is shown picking flowers for the rooms of other patients.

Michigan and Louisiana Linked as Ideal Tourist Combination

Lansing—A tourist aid program aimed to make Michigan the summer playground of Louisiana citizens and, in turn, make Louisiana the mecca of sun worshippers from winter-swept Michigan, is in the making.

The proposal, originally discussed by Frank Fitzgerald during his first term as governor, and Huey Long many months before his assassination, has been revived and presented to Gov. Luren Dickinson. At the other end of the chain, another Long, Earl K. Long, brother of Huey, is back in the political saddle, and disposed to carry on this plan first conceived by his ill-fated brother.

George Maines, Washington newspaper man and promotion director, who lived in Flint for many years, headed the group which discussed the plan with Governor Dickinson. Since leaving Michigan some years ago, the former Flint man always returns to the state for his summer vacations. His praise of Michigan as a summer playground is exceeded only by his enthusiasm for Louisiana as a winter haven for those subject to chillblains and shivers.

The proposed tourist exchange would be furthered by each state participating in a huge advertising and promotion campaign built around the thought of "Michigan in summer, Louisiana in winter" for everyone who liked pleasant, enjoyable living.

Discussing the interests the two states had in common, Mr. Maines said:

"In Louisiana we have the Evangeline country immortalized by Henry W. Longfellow in his famous poem. There her mortal remains rest, and the beauties of the Tesh country we hope to have Michigan people see in your winter time when we have sunshine and flowers. Longfellow also immortalized north Michigan in his poem Hiawatha."
